A NOTE ON ERROR

Here are known errors in the current volume. In Neil Senter's article, p. 7, the sentence ending with Note 14 as the superscript should have these words added and to the class as a whole, 14

Apprised of this error, I tried to correct it but the material had already entered the digestive tract of Texas Tech Press.

Also in my own paper, p. 53, by indicating that the contrary conjunctions p.q, p.-q, ~p.q, and ~p.-q "cannot be true but can be false together," I probably leave the impression that I believe the nonsense that each of the four conjunctions can be false: they cannot, one must be true. Similarly of the four subcontraries p.vq, p.-vq, ~p.vq, and ~p.-vq one must be false, namely, the contradictory of the true contrary.

COMMENTS

The membership of the New Mexico-West Texas Philosophical Society has asked that acknowledgment be made to institutions contributing financial support to this publication. Since it cannot be predicted which institutions will contribute before they do contribute, acknowledgment can only be made to those supporting the previous issue. Supporting Vol. I of Southwest Philosophical Studies were McMurry College, the University of Texas at Arlington, the University of New Mexico, Texas Christian University, and Texas Tech University. I should like to add that in former years there have been generous contributions from the University of Texas at El Paso and New Mexico State University that were used to help defray cost of the Society's Proceedings.
